PART E: Comments:

It is worthy of mentioning that the school has created an atmosphere of learning enjoyment among students, their parents and the community around. As a result attendance of children is good. The teachers are very cordial and taking care of their lessons consequently the progress of children is almost satisfactory.

Supplementary nutrition is provided with banana, boiled eggs and breads. It is nutritious and children relish gladly.

The children are taught basic hygiene like washing hands with soap before taking any food and wash their mouth after meal or taking any food.

I met the children (teachers of the children) on that day because the organisation convened a meeting. I discussed with them and learnt that they all satisfied with the service of the organisation regarding education ,health facility and nutrition provided for their children
