The purpose driven Odisha Seva Prakalpa has delivered the output and the resulting outcome in terms of increased productivity, improvement in health care, family stabilization, and general betterment of social life of the socially disadvantaged groups. The special programmes and training for the village youths of all communities helped in creation of capability and confidence to organize, monitor and implement various village developmental programmes.

Odisha Seva Prakalpa – Anandalaya:

The concept 'Anandalaya' was developed to start imparting learning on Shiksha, Samskara, Swasthya, and Swabhiman to children with a twin objective – onboarding every child for primary education and to ensure no dropouts before the standard V class. The Karyakartas were trained in the last quarter of 2006 to promote and manage Anandalaya. The decision on the choice of the location for piloting the project was based on the criteria 'village with a maximum drop-out rate' and it led to starting of the project on Jan 12th, 2007 in the village Adakata, Ghatagaon Block, Kendujhar District. The following is a summary of achievements over last 16 years.

Anandalaya Acharya Training

- Anandalayas are established in 37 locations across three districts (Kendujhar, Sambalpur and Rayagada).
- More than 10,000 students benefited through Anandalayas and many of the students who were studying in the Anandalayas during early years have now successfully established themselves in the society with employment or self-employment. More than 80% of these students are from tribal communities.
- Anandalaya practices community-based cultural development and deeply collaborates with the village communities on the choice of location, children counselling, parents counselling, and other enabling activities for the benefit of the villages that led to
 - a. Prevention of large-scale dropouts among the poor children in these villages
 - b. Increase in enrolment of children in primary and middle school
 - c. Attitudinal changes among the village communities towards education, health, agriculture, development, culture and approach for a peaceful community life.
- Anandalaya actively supports in organising and delivering Vivekananda Kendra activities and celebrations.

Methodology:

Opening of Anandalayas for the under privileged and less opportune primary school children living in interior villages.

In a sitting with Village elders, the Anandalaya concept is introduced for the total development of children of their village. The village offers a place to organize classes for 3/4 hours every day. Minimum 10th passed youths having urge to work for the people are selected from the village where Anandalaya is opened and are trained as Anandalaya Acharyas to take up this work. Then the trained Anandalaya Acharyas with the active involvement and co-operation of the villagers conducts the Anandalayas and other service activities. Like all our activities, this too is participatory in nature. The local people along with these volunteers will be given responsibility for implementation of this project under our direct supervision.

- Selection of Villages: 7 to 10 villages in a close vicinity as one cluster of Anandalayas
- Anandalaya Acharya training: Select 2-3 youths from each village who have passed 10th standard and/ or reading in +2 or +3, train, mould and prepare the village youths for serving in Anandalayas as Acharya
- Sitting with Village elders, the Anandalaya concept is to be introduced for the total development of children of their village.
- The village offers a place to organize classes for 3/4 hours every day
- The local people along with these volunteers/ Anandalaya Acharyas will be given responsibility for implementation of this project under Kendra's direct supervision

Expected benefits:

- i. Dropouts among the poor and vulnerable children in the proposed areas can be prevented
- ii. Enrolment of children in primary and middle schools level will be increased.
- iii. This project will help to reduce problems relating to high dropout rates, low-levels of learning achievement and low participation of girls in education.
- iv. This will be helpful to create and retain interest of the children of the disadvantaged groups residing in those villages and improve their learning skills through participation in education by developing reading habit.
- v. As the proposed areas are inhabited by mostly people belonging to St and SC, it would also bridge the gap between literacy rates of SC/STs and that of the general population and also between the rural and urban population.
- vi. Exposure of the budding and young minds to the lives of our national saints, patriots and heroes which will help forming good character as they grow.
- vii. This would go a long way in bringing about attitudinal changes among parents towards their children's education and health.

Proposal for sponsorship of 2 clusters (20 Anandalayas) in the district of Kendujhar

The 1st Anandalaya was started in the village Adakata under Ghatagaon block of Kendujhar district in January 2007. With the active financial support from Asha for Education (AfE) since last 5 years, the number of Anandalayas has increased to 20 in Ghatagaon and Harichandanpur blocks of the district. Credit for the expansion of our Anandalaya activities in Kendujhar district goes to AfE for their continued financial support during the last five years. Last year we had 15 Anandalayas and we had proposed for financial support for 15 Anandalayas.

Outcome / Impact of Anandalayas:

1. Children –
 - A) The central issue addressed by our Anandalayas is to check the drop-out rate of students joining at Primary and Upper Primary level schools, i.e those students up to 5th standard should go for 6th standard. 100% students coming to our Anandalayas are going for higher study after completion of 5th standard.
 - B) Because of the play way method of teaching and teaching through storytelling at our Anandalayas, remarkable interest for learning is observed among our students. It has positively affected the learning graph of the students.
 - C) Reading and writing abilities, Basic calculating abilities and communication skills of the students augmented.
 - D) Positive behavioural changes like regularity in attending school, respecting the parents and teachers, awareness towards personal cleanliness, confidence in giving answers etc. is being noticed among the children.
2. Parents –
 - A) Through Anandalaya we could bring a change in the parents' attitude towards education of their child like, and they feel responsible sending their children to school regularly instead of engaging them in other minor activities.
 - B) The parents are now more aware about the health and sanitation issues. They now take steps to address health issues at the primary stage by visiting health institutions and consultants.
 - C) With more awareness on cleanliness, they now maintain cleaner, healthier surroundings.
3. Youths -
 - A) The village youths engaged in our Anandalayas as Acharyas could overcome their complexity and low level of confidence with our continuous training.
 - B) Teaching and communication skills of those youths engaged in Anandalayas have increased to a large extent.
 - C) Our training has helped many of those rural youths to compete successfully with other privileged youths for selection in police, military, Para-military and other government and private services.
4. Society / villagers: Our awareness programmes, on various fields of social relevance, has resulted in bringing a positive environment and growth-oriented attitude in the villagers.

Looking at the progressive positive results at various levels of society, Vivekananda Kendra has put its efforts to increase the Anandalaya activities and take it to different Blocks. This year we could add 6 more Anandalayas in our expansion effort. So, the proposal is for support to 20 Anandalayas in the district of Kendujhar. The proposed budget this year is proportionately increased as was in the last year with minor changes in the supervisor's honorarium and a marginal increase in the monthly meeting expenses. Number of supervisors remaining the same 2, we have proposed an increase of Rs. 500/- to the supervisor's honorarium as compared to last year's budget and an increase of Rs. 500/- for the fooding expenses of monthly meetings.
