

Asha Darshan Trust (Assam) Support A Student Project Proposal – July 2018

Asha Trust has a decent portfolio of projects directly run by Asha Trust India members. Asha Assam/ Darsan is one such center at Tamulpur, Assam. Around ten schools are directly run among tribal communities by Asha Darshan Trust. Government schools are rare in these areas. The children have a troubled past, a past haunted by guns and violence. Those days are gone but challenges remain due to lack of opportunity, Government apathy, remoteness of North East and financial issues (including but not limited to regular attacks of Elephants to destroy crops).

However, there is a major need for supporting students after they go out of the Asha schools and we want to start this with four students from Asha schools. If it becomes successful, SV or other chapters can scale it.

These four students are selected considering both their financial situation and results (as well as willingness to continue studies). Their family are not asking for any money for food costs. Only education related expenses are listed.
