The importance of education for their children, general health and hygiene is also stressed. Achievements:

Through the above conducted Awareness camps the Irulas realised their plight was very pathetic when compared to the other community people. They have become aware of their situation and feel the need for the unity among themselves. They were made aware that they could fight for their rights only if they are united. The need for their own Sangam / Association was stressed. The existing / available government welfare schemes were informed to them. As a result, both the districts were sensitised to form Sarpam Sangam.

These Awareness camps have also resulted in creating and awakening among the Irula community to send their children to the schools instead of sending them for work as child labour. It has also served the purpose in making them adhere to their personal hygiene and better health.

The active leaders of Sarpam played the role of motivators, leader’s mentors and the role model for the Irulas. Role-play, street play were organised by the cultural team in the camps. The theme of role-plays was Police harassment, Non-implementation of Government scheme, Corruptions, inequality, Negligence of the officials’ exploitation etc. Nearly 50% of the participants were woman from the villages. In Sarpam the leaders represented to the Bharathi Trust -2007-08
Government officers to give them Scheduled Tribes Certificate, Street lights, Ration Cards, Drinking Water facility, and land Patta etc.

They have also managed to replicate Sarpam organisation in 18 villages in Uttukottai Taluk of Thiruvallur District Irula, 24 villages in Cuddalore District and 12 villages in Vellore district. Now these leaders have gained the confidence that they can manage to deal with government officers to get their demands granted for their community.

Out come:

Sarpam’s leader’s role in handling human rights violation issues:

In Thiruvallur and Vellore district most of the police stations stopped registering false cases against the Irulas on the basis of local landowner’s complaints. The Irulas started to protest against this injustice through solidarity among huge membership of Irula villages. This movement made the police to be careful while they register such false cases against Irula community. Sarpam leaders are now more aware of their rights and different laws to deal with them.

However in some cases there are still some police stations in Vellore district which arrest Irulas on false cases. Sarpam and Bharathi Trust personal take up these issues legally and get them released.

2. Leadership Training:

In Thiruvallur, Cuddalore and Vellore District Leaders meeting will be conducted on 25th every month. All the leaders will meet and discuss about their newly raised issues and the future course of action that is to be undertaken. The leadership training also gives an opportunity to the participants to bring out their talents, understanding of the community problem.

The leadership training programme at the district level, taluk level, and village level were conducted and the details of which are given below,

As the members of the cultural Team belong to Irula scheduled tribe, they were able to reach their community well and convey the ideas in an effective manner. 15 staff members and 15 bonded labourers visited the target villages and organised the cultural melas. This was an extempore event based on their village issues performed by the trained team of 30 members. Tsunami Housing Scheme to Irula in Thiruvallur & Cuddalore Districts

Project goal

To provide Permanent and Temporary housing for the tsunami-affected Irula community in Cuddalore and Thiruvallur District. To improve the socio-economic status of the tsunami-affected Irula community

Project purpose

The purpose of the project is rehabilitation of the Tsunami affected Irula community in Cuddalore and Thiruvallur District through the establishment of permanent settlements. The families are now able to lead a more settled life and to avail infrastructural support and social welfare benefits from the state government as an officially recognized community. Permanent settlement and houses reduce the vulnerability of the target community, because target households are enabled to organize themselves more, as well as they will be protected more against environmental hazards by living in permanent houses. Once being settled down permanently, the Irula community can develop alternative and sustainable livelihood opportunities, no longer interrupted by ongoing movements.

Construction Activities:

Before taking up the construction of houses in Thiruvallur and Cuddalore district we have made it mandatory to form a committee of community workers in the project area and who decide the purchase of Materials and work force for the housing project.

Education of Irula children:

The senior members of Irula community are illiterate and only a very negligible percentage of their children are first generation school goers. Due to their ignorance of basic rights to live with honor, they are always neglected by the society and are also left out of national mainstream by the Government. To make them aware of their basic rights and also socially and financially as viable citizens, they need to be encouraged to acquire the basic knowledge in educational field through constant motivation and involvement. The condition of the children is very poor and they do not possess any knowledge. The society does not provide them the opportunity to learn hence they lack the basic knowledge. Sometimes even after enrolling in the government school they were de-motivated by the teacher’s attitude and parent’s apathy shown towards their education.

To involve them in education requires motivation and support. Hence basic education has to be provided by the education motivation centre to train them to acquire the basic knowledge for the purpose of getting enrolled in government schools. The basic language and arithmetic skills can be installed in them through the simple techniques. We train the student with twigs, stones and available material in order to attract their attention.

In Addition other activities like Drawing, Painting, clay work, Simple dance steps with rhymes were also included in the curriculum in order to build creativity and interest in learning. We also provide nutritious food to the children to provide stamina and energy. In the centers we also provide nutritious care and health care. These centers also help the working mothers of this community as they can leave their children in the centers and go about their work. Otherwise it will be difficult for them to take the children to their work spot.

The education motivation centre will run for three years and its students will be enrolled in government school in the successive academic year. The children above thirteen years cannot be enrolled in government school hence after training them with needed knowledge we will arrange their learning through correspondence course. The grown up children will be trained in skills according to their preference and needs. Thus, livelihood will also be arranged in future. We are running various Childcare centre and the details are given below.

Community Resource center:

Background:

India is an agricultural country and 90% of its population is living in the villages. More than 50% of them are illiterates. Though few children from these villages have studied up to school level, they also go for coolie work as their parents are in the condition of grinding poverty and exploitation due to severe unemployment.

Due to modernization, chemical fertilizers and pesticides are being used to increase productivity at the cost of clean environment and good health. Even skilled farmers are unable to follow eco friendly methods of agricultural production. So slowly age old system of our agricultural methods and eco friendly agricultural products are getting vanished. Organic manure production using cow dung and with other decayed vegetable was a very important method of agriculture. Similarly seed recycling also. The present type of agricultural methods and products give not only health problems but environment problems also.

Nowadays plastics are used everywhere and in India it is discarded on the land and is not recycled properly as in the developed countries. This is a very serious eco issue to be tackled immediately. In olden days leaves were used for packing and mud pots were used for storing water.

Water management in India is yet to go a long way. Indian population as a whole is not conserving water. Excess water is used for agriculture if available. Tree planting, construction of check dam, storing rain water in tanks, rain harvesting, drip irrigation, are some of the water management technique required in India.

Tamilnadu is a rain shadow region and does not get rain during the very popular southwest monsoon, while rest of India is getting plenty of water. For the last three years there was no rain which led to severe drought and starvation deaths. This was due to the fact that there was no livelihood other than agriculture in most of the villages. Bharathi Trust, a social service organization, working at the gross root level in villages and poor tribal people in Tamil Nadu, for the last ten years, has decided to start a community resource center in Thiruvallur district of Tamil Nadu.

Target group:

The target group or anticipated beneficiaries of the resource center are: Farmers, Women, Students, private as well as government teachers, peasants and artisans, educationists, non-government organizations engaged in various developmental works including education and community at large.

The resource center provides the following facilities to the village people:

1. Indigenous alternate method of income generation and economic development – organic farming, artisan skills in weaving, rainwater harvesting, tailoring and embroidery, pottery, carpentry, bee-keeping, dairy, vermin culture etc.

2. Alternative teaching methods blending the formal and non-formal education methods
   Health & Nutrition – Research and application of traditional methods of herbal medicine and nutrition

3. Documentation & Research – Documenting the activities of the villagers, culture, music, art and history of the communities in the area.

4. Maintain a network of resource persons with similar ideas and skills.

5. Training the community in different skills such as pottery, weaving, tailoring etc.

   The community will be involved with the working of the resource centre. They will find employment as artisans and develop their skills. They will also help in the construction of the resource center. The total involvement of the community shall ensure the success of the center.

Improvements in the Resource center
Our project workers in the Resource center have taken up the cause of better cultivation in the land adjoining our land at resource centre by the following methods:

1. Provision of electricity for their agricultural use.
2. Distribution of seeds for cultivation.
3. Advise on the use of organic manure and procedure for preparing the same to them.

It may be mentioned that prior to this step being taken the lands were kept in barren condition.

The following steps were taken at the resource centre for better storage of water for cultivation. Check dams were constructed in various places were the surplus water flowing are channelised and diverted to the pits. Due to this there is a vast improvement in the underground water table.

The following crops are cultivated at the resource centre:

1. Banana
2. Sunflower
3. Paddy
4. Ground nuts
5. Vegetables

A training programme on Nature based organic farming and training methods.

Training programme on ‘organic farming’ was conducted by Sri K.Nammallvar (Organic scientist) in the Resource centre land belonging to Bharathitrust at Pallipat for benefit of farmers based at Pallipat, Thiruvallur.

The training programme was inaugurated by Mrs. E.Siddamma Managing trustee, Bharathithrust. Advisor Sarpam Sangam and social worker. She informed that the purpose of starting the farm was to train the agriculturist of the area on organic farming. In the usual method of farming most of the agricultural situation mostly chemical fertilizers are used which results in various health problems when they used in the farm products of this sector. As the cost of the fertilizers is high farmers have to take loans for purchase of the same. In most of the cases the farmers are unable to get less profit, due to reduced production farmers are compelled to commit suicide due to the inability to pay off the loans. With a measure to obviate such occurrences the organic method of farming is gaining momentum. Bharathi trust have taken up the task of training the farmers through their model farm in Pallipad where training is also imparted to the farmers.

Mr. K.Nammallvar explained in simple language that the training will provide knowledge to the farmers for production of non chemical, economical and protective farming methods. He also answered the queries of the farmers.

A cultural programme by the cultural team (Viduthalai Kalai Kulu) of Thiruvallur was also held and the salient point of organic was conveyed through songs and drama. The co coordinator of Bharathi trust resource centre Mr. Theni V. Shanmugavel explained by visual aids about the preparation of natural manure by earthworm (vermicompost) and other composting methods.
The farmers attended the meeting appreciated the training programme and assured that they have also been motivated to follow methods in their lands.

The Hurricane Katrina-Tsunami Exposure Trip

It difficult to relate to disasters in the next city or state, let alone a country far out in the west. Yet the importance to learn from the other, the one across the border or across oceans is none the less great. The December 2004 tsunami unleashed horrific loss and destruction in 12 countries of Africa and Asia. In August 2005, on the other side of the world, Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans and the Gulf region, leaving behind tremendous damage and rendering thousands of people homeless.

To examine these similarities and share cross-learnings, ActionAid US in collaboration with ActionAid India’s International Emergencies and Conflict Team and the National Tsunami Response Program Team, designed an exchange program that brought together 20 activists, grass-root workers and people who faced the fierce winds of hurricane Katrina and the giant waves of the tsunami. The visit was supported by Mott Foundation in USA.

In May 2007, a ten member delegation arrived from the US to begin the first half of the exposure visit in India. Some of these delegates comprised of survivors of the hurricane and belonged to the African American communities from New Orleans and Mississippi who faced the brunt of discrimination and denial of rights by the US Government. They visited around 15 coastal villages of Puducherry, Cuddalore and Nagapattinam and shared their stories of discrimination with the equally marginalized dalit and tribal communities who were affected by the tsunami, along with NGOs and Social activists involved in the tsunami reconstruction process.

The second half of the exchange a team of Indian activists and grass-root workers visited Hurricane Katrina affected areas in New Orleans, Louisiana and Biloxi, Mississippi in August 2007. The Indian delegation met with habitants of the Public Housing structures, the Vietnamese community in New Orleans, Grass-root organizations such as Hope House, Common Ground, etc. government officials involved in the reconstruction processes and many other activists working towards the rebuilding process in the post Katrina scenario. The group also had the opportunity to participate in the second commemoration of Hurricane Katrina on August 30, 2007.

These cross learning has brought to light that no matter where a disaster strikes, its aftermath and impact affect all in the same way...loss of loved ones, families and homes destroyed, livelihoods ruined and life as we know it coming to a halt.

The Indian participants:

- Siddamma from Bharathi Trust works with the Irulas, an Adivasi community who were initially forest dwellers.
- Shibhu from CWBC who works largely with workers from the unorganized labour sector

Mrs.Siddamma who was visiting the US to attend a conference on Tsunami and Katrina took time out to talk to Asha Volunteers across the country. Siddamma, an Asha Fellow and a grassroots activist who has extensively worked with the Irula tribal communities and has been instrumental in the release of over 2000 bonded laborers from the rice mills in Red Hills near Chennai, shared her experience with a group of eager Asha Volunteers in New York. Siddamma who has been conferred several awards and honors in the past few years including "Heroes Acting To End Modern-Day Slavery", has also been invited by many government agencies from several countries to share her experience. She has also addressed the UN as part of the presentation on "Tsunami Response: A human Rights Assessment

Mrs.Siddamma has worked extensively to organize the Irula community to represent themselves and their rights and in the process has rehabilitated the adults by re-skilling them while ensuring that the children of these families get mainstream schooling as well. Her experience in re-skilling and re-employing The freed labourers is an example of how free communities work and can easily fit into class room Economics.

Bharathi Trust -2007-08
Some policies are bad for land – pesticides etc introduced in name of Green Revolution (urea, nitrates etc) are harming the land – more production is needed- is the argument of Green Revolution – but even if the food quantity has been increased the amount of poverty has not – chemicals used in bad for land and bad for health. Hence Bharathi Trust has created model agricultural lands and cultivation is done as per the traditional Indian farming main thing needed is a cow – no money needed for anything else. Leaves and cow dung is sufficient – Rs 2000 and 2 cows per family in this model villages – 6 families leave here - 13 acres of land – rainwater harvesting done here – food made for local consumption – lot of crops that the Govt is not encouraging in India are grown. She explained about the Low cost Houses schemes which are constructed for the Tsunami Affected Irula villages in TamilNadu Coastal Areas.
