

Class III or IV with the wooden partition separating the classroom from the next one

The principal's room and the staff's toilet. One interesting fact: The principal Mrs Bedarata Goswami is a passout from this school

The primary school boys toilet. We captured them in the act. They were very thrilled in being photographed and did not bother when :)

The water tank and the school backyard

The ongoing primary school building construction. The construction had to be stopped halfway due to lack of funds

The school front yard

The school surrounding

The high school building where the primary classed are held
